

The Role of Technology in Science Competitions

Addressing the growing role of digital tools, online platforms, and virtual competitions, how can technology

- on the one hand expand access and diversify participation in science competitions?
- on the other hand, do those tools enhance the competitions educational value?